

Department of Anthropology
Application for
Registration-in-Absentia Fees

DUE: High Noon [12:00pm] Friday, July 1, 2016

On a competitive basis, the Department offers funds in support of fees for registration in absentia during dissertation fieldwork. Our merit criteria for all competitive funding decisions take two broad things into consideration: (1) scientific/anthropological merit/relevance of the research featured in the proposal; (2) the standing of the student in the program (which includes time to degree, GPA, and past performance).

Funds are limited and availability may fluctuate from year to year. Students must be advanced to doctoral candidacy and conducting research outside of California per the Graduate Division policy regarding Registration in Absentia:
